THE HEART AND SOUL OF BROOME

PLACE MANAGEMENT PLAN

FEBRUARY 2019

OUR VISION

For Chinatown to be an inviting, busy and vibrant precinct.

OUR ROLE

To support and empower the community and traders to activate their precinct.

COMMUNITY ROLE

To publicly participate in and drive the growth of Chinatown by playing a key role in its revitalisation, focusing on the social and cultural importance of creating a lively centre in the community.

OVERVIEW

Broome's historic heart, Chinatown is on the brink of a significant renewal that aims to improve local trading conditions, attract new visitors and create a high quality, memorable destination through new public realm amenities and enhancements.

Necessary to work hand in hand with the Chinatown Revitalisation project's $12.7m¹ of physical and infrastructure improvements is a bespoke and practical Place Management Plan (PMP) that outlines how to optimise business, resident and stakeholder participation, ownership and governance, as well as guide and enhance the day-to-day operations and functional management of the place.

The PMP outlines a framework and implementation plan, which:

- Guides Shire investment and identifies external funding sources
- Recommends a place governance model to improve collaboration between the Shire, businesses, community and stakeholders
- Focuses branding, promotion and marketing activities
- Identifies activation and programming opportunities, post construction
- Proposes strategies across arts, culture, safety and security
- Recommends guidelines for the operation and maintenance of upgraded public infrastructure and services

The PMP has been developed, by place planning consultancy, element, following review of Shire of Broome ("the Shire") strategies and plans, research of best-practice place management, physical place assessment, and in-depth consultation across the Shire, Chinatown business community and stakeholders.

THE WHAT AND WHY OF PLACE MANAGEMENT

Too often, efforts to improve how a place functions are focused on its design features and hard infrastructure – ‘build it and they will come’. However, bringing public spaces to life with events and celebrations, ensuring businesses are well-connected and thriving, and elevating a place’s image and identity, are equally vital strategies that can be overlooked.

Local government is often considered the ‘natural home’ for place management due to its responsibility for public realm maintenance and upgrades, hosting local events and support for local businesses.

Importantly, successful place management relies on the inclusion and active participation of a wide variety of stakeholders in the design and delivery of place initiatives, with local government playing an enabling role through streamlining processes and making it easier to innovate.

To play a more productive role in place management, many local governments have been:

1. Adopting a ‘yes-first’ mindset to community-driven initiatives
2. Allocating a dedicated Place Manager to assist in project advice, minimise approvals/burn-out and provide guidance on funding sources
3. Implementing strategies and processes that encourage Councillors and staff at all levels to see themselves as advocates and enablers

Town centres and main streets across the Anglosphere have seen an emergence of ‘bottom-up’ place management driven by businesses, residents and local clubs. Such groups range for formally-recognised instruments in the form of Business Improvement Associations in Canada through to volunteer-driven Town Teams in Australia.

The benefits for local Government of these groups are numerous:

1. Help to identify can-do community champions who can provide input into the design and delivery of Local Government Associations (LGA) plans and activities
2. Community and business member networks represent a dedicated forum to gain feedback on long form LGA plans, and to promote LGA activities
3. Successful groups often run events - markets, outdoor film nights, clean-up days - and deliver ‘lighter, quicker, cheaper’ initiatives - planter boxes, parklets, murals - that could otherwise be resource-intensive for LGAs to deliver

Efforts by the Shire to adopt a proactive place management approach, and levels of interest from businesses, stakeholders and residents to take part and drive ‘bottom-up’ initiatives represent an exciting opportunity to make the most of the impressive investment and upgrades already underway in Chinatown.

CHINATOWN PLACE EVALUATION

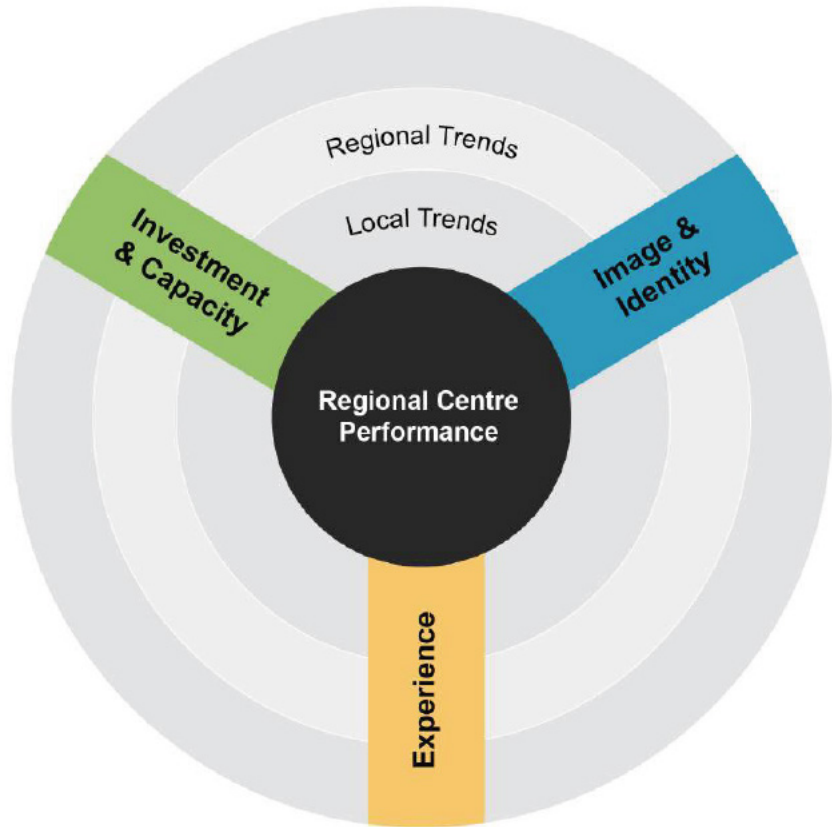

To evaluate Chinatown’s baseline performance, a literature review of the following Shire plans and strategies was conducted and informed key areas of focus for the PMP:

- Chinatown Development Strategy (2012)
- Chinatown Masterplan (2017)
- Chinatown Masterplan public consultation submissions (2017)
- Chinatown Laneway Enhancement Strategy (2017)
- Chinatown Investment Development Co-ordinator Activity Plan (2017)
- Broome Events Strategic Development Plan (2017)
- Chinatown Revitalisation project factsheets and website (2018)

During October 2018, a place assessment and consultation program was implemented. In-depth insights, issues, gaps and opportunities were compiled within element’s Place Performance Model across the areas of Investment and Capacity, Image and Identity and Experience.

Key engagement touchpoints were:

- Place Management workshops
 - › Shire staff including a number of executive and management²
 - › Chinatown business representatives and key stakeholders³
- Chinatown Place Assessment
- Intercept interviews and survey – business representatives
- ‘Introduction to Place Making’ presentation – Shire staff

INVESTMENT AND CAPACITY
CAPITAL WORKS
		<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Significant investment in key streetscapes and laneways will reposition Chinatown as a safer, more comfortable and attractive place to visit.• Businesses are hopeful of an uplift in economic performance and visitation once roadworks are completed, noting it has been a long and involved journey to date.
PRIVATE SECTOR INVESTMENT
		<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Businesses report significant private investment in improving their fitouts and marketing spend.• Shire-driven initiatives to incentivise building/façade upgrades are well supported by businesses.
VISITOR SPEND
		<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Business and stakeholders report the local economic climate has been challenging.• Declining visitor numbers have been recorded at the Broome Visitor Centre and referenced in Tourism WA’s ‘Broome Tourism Strategy 2014’.• Some businesses are hopeful the streetscape upgrades and holistic Place Management approach, combined with increasing cruise ship numbers, will boost visitor numbers and associated spend.
PARTNERSHIPS
	Shire of Broome	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Broad support across the Shire and business community exists for a Shire Place Making Officer to be established, with an initial focus on supporting Chinatown. Many respondents noted the position requires an appropriate level of funding and should be established for a number of years for continuity and to build relationships. Direct lines of communication are necessary to key Shire executive and managers to expedite approvals and troubleshoot issues.• Businesses noted a shift by the Shire to an enabling practice for approvals and activation – e.g. faster decision making, a “yes-first” culture.• It is acknowledged the Shire is working hard to improve its approach to revitalising Chinatown with various progressive strategies and plans in place – Public Art Strategy, Laneway Enhancement Strategy and Chinatown Development Strategy.
	Cross sector collaboration	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Some interest exists in the formation of a town team comprised of businesses, interested residents and the Shire’s Place Making Officer, noting energy and capacity to set up and drive the group to be sustainable / independent is critical.

	Cross sector collaboration	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some interest exists in the formation of a town team comprised of businesses, interested residents and the Shire's Place Making Officer, noting energy and capacity to set up and drive the group to be sustainable / independent is critical. The Stage Two Detailed Design Phase will deliver the second stage of works as outlined in the Chinatown Master Plan. This phase of works will continue to enhance the streetscapes of Chinatown and will focus on east- west roads (Napier, Short Streets), extend along Carnarvon Street north and further develop plans for a Transit Hub.
	Business offer	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some key businesses are identified by the local community as missing from Chinatown including: unique/alternative gift shops, Aboriginal art workshop/gallery, games centre (arcade, trampolining etc), cafés along Dampier Terrace, alfresco dining (restaurants, wine bars etc), men's retailer. The proposed Kimberley Centre would be a major new attraction for Chinatown, interactively showcasing the full diversity and depth of Broome and the Kimberley region's people, natural history, art and culture for visitors and locals.

Image and Identity
Brand Performance
	Assets, awareness, sentiment and investment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The case for a more unified Chinatown brand / identity is well supported. Interest from the Shire and traders exists to adapt the revitalisation brand following construction and implement across a range of channels. Overarching guidance to marketing, collateral, signage etc. is sought after.
Place Attachment
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Locals’ connection with Chinatown would be strengthened by attracting businesses and hosting events specific to their interests/needs.
Place Management
	Presentation and maintenance	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Increased Shire resources are required to maintain the streetscape to meet higher visitor and trader expectations. Collaboration and buy-in from businesses is desirable to spread the management impost, accelerate responsiveness and build a stronger sense of place attachment, ownership and pride.
	Safety and Security	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Anti-social issues are an ongoing concern for visitors and traders. Businesses and the Shire anticipate the public realm upgrades will help to resolve some issues. More proactive on-the-ground management by businesses, stakeholders (not-for-profit organisations), Shire and State Government (i.e. Department of Communities, WA Police) will be required to improve overall safety and security of tourists, residents and traders.

Experience
Diversity of Uses
	Activities and uses	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Mobile traders (e.g. food trucks and market stalls) are a demonstrated way to activate precincts and provide more reasons to visit – especially locals. However, if they are to be successful and supported in Chinatown they need to complement, not compete with, existing businesses. Mobile traders should prioritise high-quality, locally-made arts, craft and other items as opposed to imported products. Traders offering food and produce not found in Chinatown should be prioritised.
	Events and attractions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The interim investment in activation and events has been successful at raising Chinatown's profile and improving short-term visitation, however more proactive involvement from stakeholders outside of the Shire (Traders, Community etc.) is required if this is to be sustainable.
Public Realm Quality
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Additional investment is required to connect the recently upgraded sections of Carnarvon Street and Dampier Terrace – via the laneways and Short Street. A relatively small investment in lighting, greening and seating could provide a short-term solution. The Shire of Broome is in the process of updating the Business Case for Stage Two. This will be used to seek funding to detail design the next stage of works as outlined in the Chinatown Master Plan. This phase of works will continue to enhance the streetscapes of Chinatown and will focus on east-west roads (Napier, Short Streets), extend along Carnarvon Street north and further develop plans for a Transit Hub.
Business Offer
		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some key businesses are identified by the local community as missing from Chinatown including: unique/alternative gift shops, Aboriginal art workshop/gallery, games centre (arcade, trampolining etc), cafés along Dampier Terrace, alfresco dining (restaurants, wine bars etc), men's retailer. The proposed Kimberley Centre would be a major new attraction for Chinatown, interactively showcasing the full diversity and depth of Broome and the Kimberley region's people, natural history, art and culture for visitors and locals.

GOVERNANCE FRAMEWORK

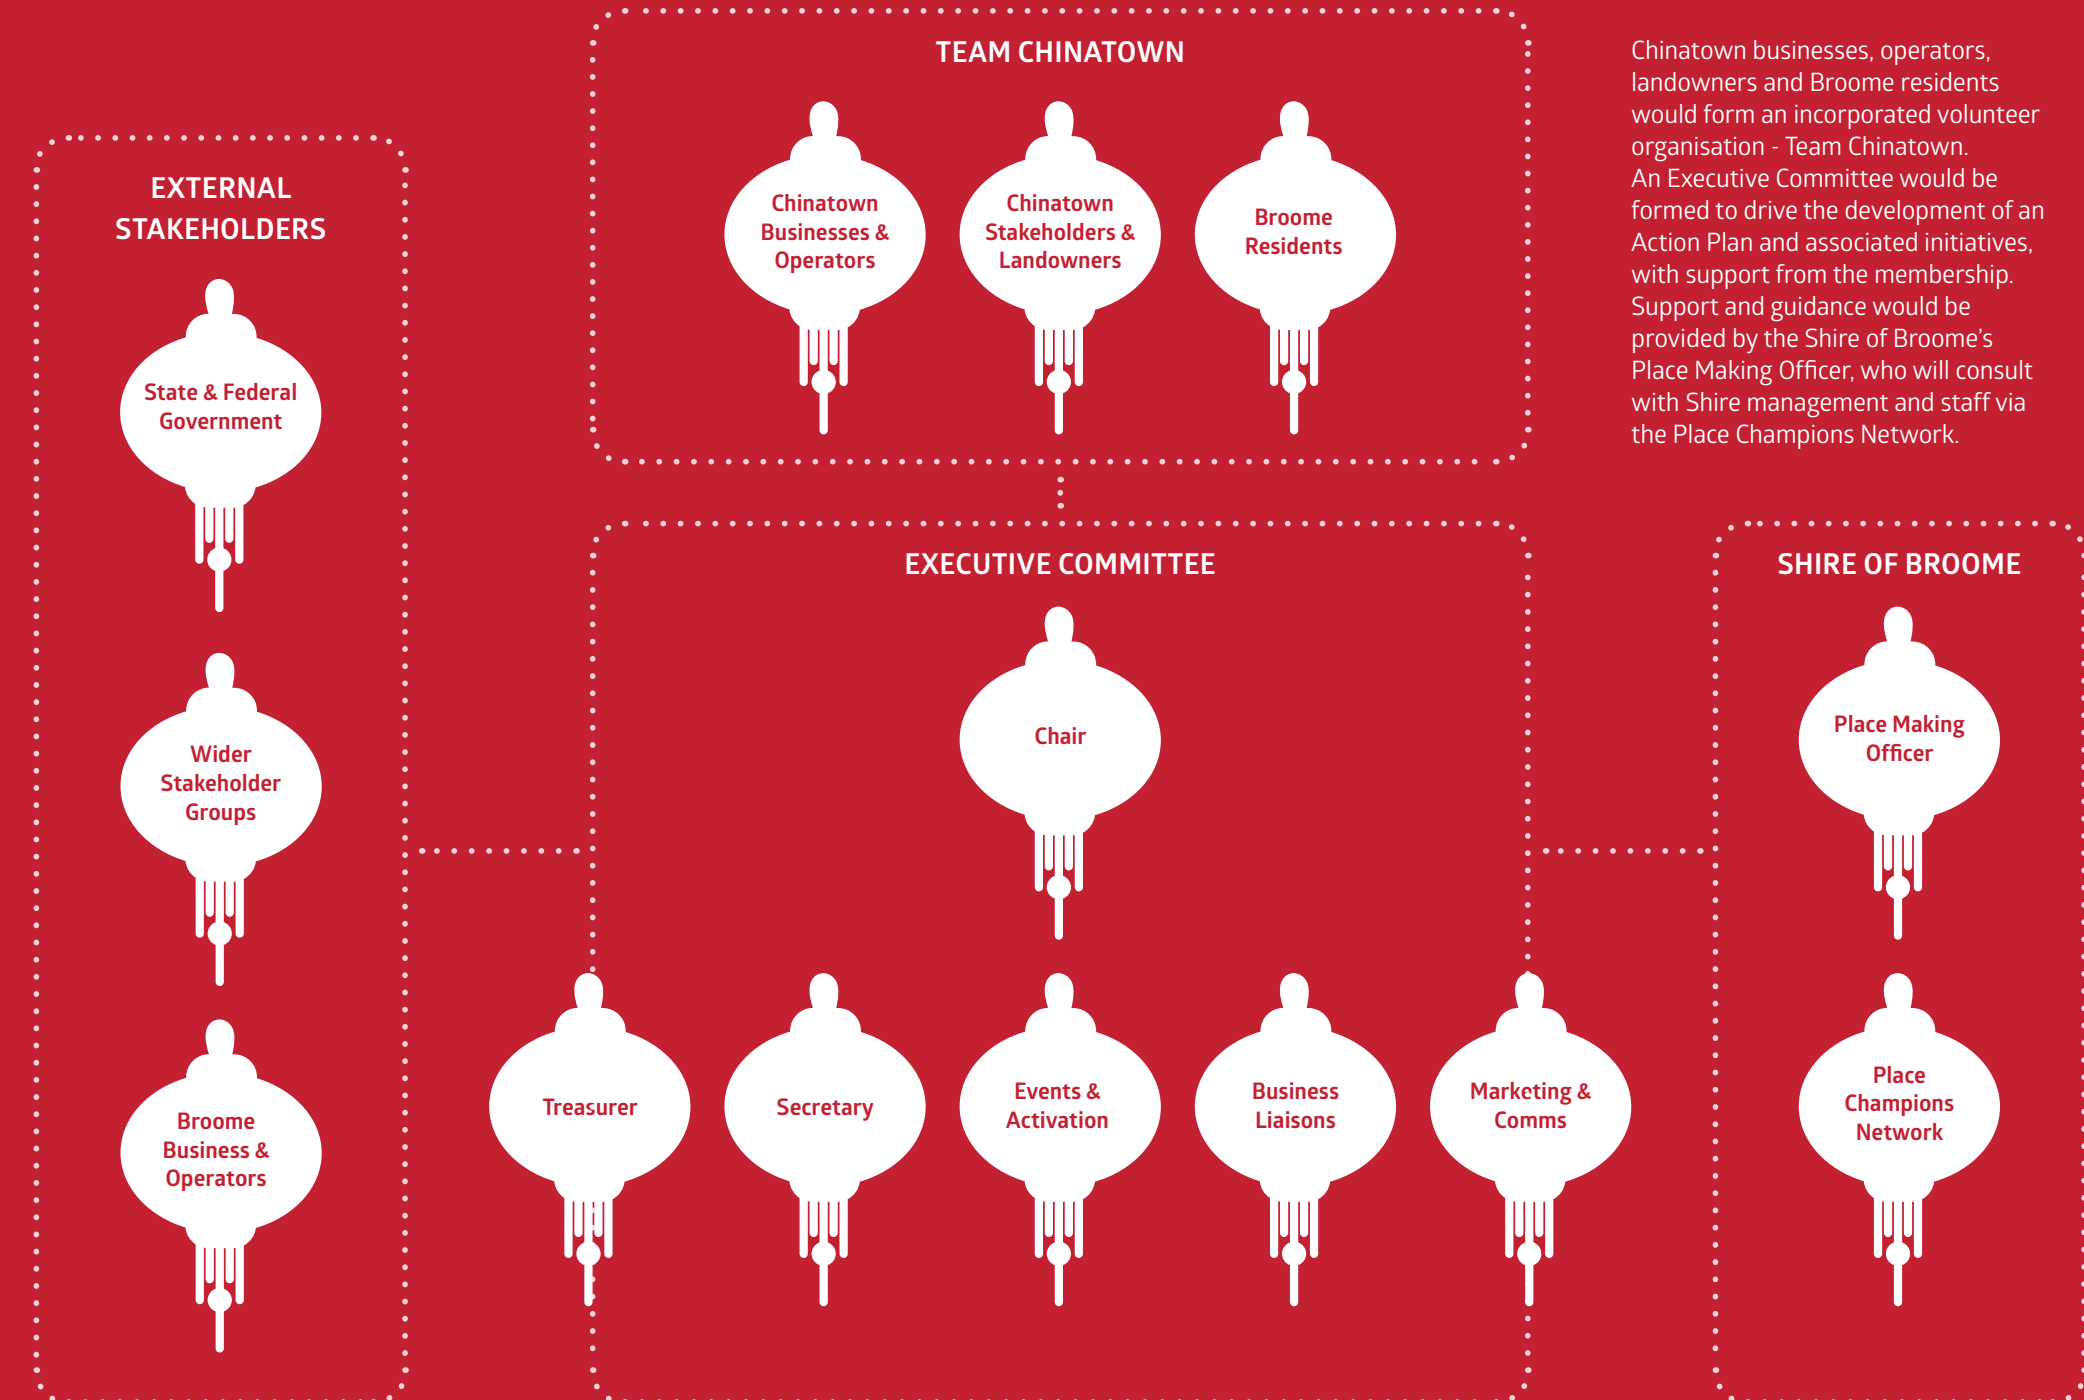

Local governments across Australia are facing significant challenges to deliver on higher expectations from an increasingly savvy community in the face of stagnating or declining resource bases – a challenge often more complex in regional settings. Chinatown is a unique and special place and enabling it to realise its full potential as a place for locals and visitors will require a governance approach that brings stakeholders together and leverages latent energy and capacity.

This situation is not unique to Broome and fortunately there are precedents across Western Australia and nationally that now tangibly demonstrate the benefits of taking a community-led approach to place management. The key to success is to ensure that small business, residents and stakeholders are each represented and working together, supported by a dedicated Place Making Officer who works as a single point of contact and trouble-shooter, helping to cut red tape, overcome issues, provide updates and identify opportunities. This position, and the representative group that works together with it, will require access to a fund to allocate to key initiatives including marketing, strategic planning, events, administration and physical upgrades. Best practice examples of this approach are also centred around a local government that adopts a 'yes first' approach, streamlining bureaucracy, approvals etc.

This model is known as 'Town Teams' and is a growing network that offers untapped resources to deliver place making initiatives beyond the remit and resources of local governments. Refer to townteams.com.au for more information.

The following approach is recommended:

- The Shire's Place Making Officer would invite businesses, employees, stakeholders and residents who have the skills, interest and capacity to form a Town Team, initially called Team Chinatown. This initiative has been discussed with many interested Broome business representatives whom have indicated they are willing to explore the formation of a Committee. The existing Chinatown Stakeholder and Community Reference Group would be discontinued following completion of Stage One of the Chinatown Revitalisation project with representatives invited to continue their involvement within Team Chinatown.
- The Place Making Officer would help to set up Team Chinatown as an independent incorporated association with a volunteer Committee.
- Team Chinatown would firstly develop a Town Team Action Plan building on relevant recommendations within this Place Management Plan and test it through community and stakeholder consultation.
- As the Action Plan needs to be owned and driven by the Committee and wider community, a key plank in its successful implementation is for the Committee to develop partnerships with businesses, stakeholder groups, the Shire and State government. It is the role of the Committee to reach out to others in the community to 'spread the load,' developing strategies to manage situations where energy, capacity and interest in delivering the Action Plan's initiatives decline.
- The Committee will also be required to apply for monies from a wide range of funding bodies to improve financial security and resilience.

Chinatown businesses, operators, landowners and Broome residents would form an incorporated volunteer organisation - Team Chinatown. An Executive Committee would be formed to drive the development of an Action Plan and associated initiatives, with support from the membership. Support and guidance would be provided by the Shire of Broome's Place Making Officer, who will consult with Shire management and staff via the Place Champions Network.

A suite of strategies has been developed in accordance with the Place Performance Model focus areas: Investment and Capacity, Image and Identity, and Experience. They have been developed to complement the Shire’s various plans and strategies already under implementation.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Adopting a Place Management approach to Chinatown involves various initiatives and strategies that represent a departure from conventional public realm management and stakeholder engagement. The following risks have been identified, with corresponding management strategies.

RISK	LIKELIHOOD	CONSEQUENCE	RISK MANAGEMENT STRATEGIES
Place Making Officer does not have requisite skills to implement role description, including Shire-led PMP actions	Medium <ul style="list-style-type: none">Challenges of attracting and retaining specialist talent within / to regional centres in WA have been noted	High <ul style="list-style-type: none">Many PMP initiatives rely on Place Manage to play a central role of co-ordination, troubleshooting and delivery	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Approve package to attract necessary talentOffer tenure beyond 12 months (preferably 3 years) to retain talentEnsure PMP and Place Making Officer role has broad support within Shire and Council
Place Making Officer position not approved beyond 12 months	Low	High <ul style="list-style-type: none">Role responsibilities fall onto other Shire teams with limited spare capacityLack of central co-ordination role leads to inefficient use of resourcesPlace Making Officer may seek alternate role towards end of tenure	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Submit funding request to Council for three yearsCommunicate benefits of multi-year tenure to Shire Executive and CouncilCommunicate intent for Place Making Officer to focus on identified precincts across Broome, in addition to Chinatown
Expectations the Shire will take over responsibilities for Team Chinatown, including Action Plan	Medium <ul style="list-style-type: none">Businesses with limited capacity may try to involve Place Making Officer heavily in Action Plan delivery	Medium <ul style="list-style-type: none">Place Making Officer's responsibilities increase, diluting ability to deliver Shire-led strategies and extend focus beyond Chinatown	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Communicate intent from outset that Place Making Officer is to play a support / enabler role, as opposed to a leadership / delivery role.Key interface will be for Place Making Officer to act as a conduit, and advocate for Team Chinatown needs, to other Shire staff / teams
Lack of internal capacity to deliver Shire-led PMP strategies	Medium <ul style="list-style-type: none">Shire teams with responsibility for Chinatown report lack of capacity to adopt and implement additional tasks	High <ul style="list-style-type: none">PMP strategies not delivered on time leading to reduction in momentum and collaboration with stakeholders (Team Chinatown etc.)	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Retain Place Making Officer position until PMP strategies have been delivered and embedded within Shire practices

NEXT STEPS

The PMP is a live document that will be updated as strategies are initiated, and additional information is made available.
